

THE Newsletter from Terrace Heights Estate

Hello all...

Lots of happenings in the T H E wine world since we last touched base.

We have secured excellent distribution in Australia with Coles Meyer and will be listed in their vintage cellar outlets Australia wide from March 2008.

Our T H E Sauvignon Blanc 2007 is about to hit the skies with listing in the long haul business class with Air New Zealand for the next six months.

ORDER IMMEDIATELY TO AVOID DISAPPOINTMENT: if you want some, order quickly, our T H E Pinot Gris 2007 is one of only three wines to be awarded 5 stars in the upcoming Cuisine Magazines "N.Z. Aromatic Tasting." This is excellent and once again justifies our Pinot Gris stylistically as your best option.

In the vineyard we are at veraison. This is where the berries begin to soften and the sugars start to increase. Our ideal weather from now to vintage is classic Marlborough, cool nights and sunny clear days.

Yes, we are live and kicking

On the site we have our history, people and lots of vineyard pictures. All our wines are described in depth with tasting notes and a great archive section with all wines back to the originals in 2002. Please have a browse and we welcome your feedback.

I am off to Shanghai and Beijing early March to support our importer there in the market and to go to the N.Z. Wine Fair. It will be an exciting trip in a vibrant emerging market.

Will keep you posted

Cheers,
Steve

Pinot Gris 2007

Pears and figs come to mind when sniffing this wine and you can taste them too. An absolute creamy richness in your mouth – it's got some sweetness but not too much. Oh, and a nice bit of spice.

Pinot Noir 2006

The aroma of this wine is awesome – ripe, juicy cherries and plums with some nice spicy oak. There's lots of flavour – savoury and sweet and it feels really silky in your mouth. A great choice to enjoy with red meat. Absolute BBQ perfection

Sauvignon Blanc 2007

This wine smells of freshly chopped capsicums and tropical fruit. The taste is great – like really zesty, ripe fruit salad and just-picked garden herbs. A great choice of wine for any occasion
